

My results accurately reflect my interest and what I was looking to do for this year's senior project. Last year I got inspired by a senior to teach kids something I'm passionate about. I've always been into the arts and I've always been good with kids due to being an older sister so teaching kids has been something easy for me. Aside from that my family has always been in leadership positions and helping to provide hospitality so those traits have rubbed off on me as a result. For my project, I want to learn how to professionally lead by teaching kids character design to not only help the kids but also give me an experience I might need in the animation field if I ever lead a project. I intend to think of other ideas but I'm excited about the project!
